

What's a pirate's favorite letter?

R?

Aye. You'd think it'd be the r, but it
be the c (sea).

What's a pirate's least favorite vegetable?

I don't know. What?

A leek (leak).

How old is the pirate?

I don't know. How old?

80. Know how I know?

I asked him, and he said,

“Aye, Matey!”

Aye, Matey!

sounds just like . . .

I'm 80!

Why can't pirates
say the alphabet?

They get lost at sea.

Get it?

They get lost at sea (c).

“A . . . B . . . ???”

Some words
(called homophones)
have other words that sound exactly the same.

A pun is a joke that's told using words where another word that has the exact same sounds is used—and the meaning is changed from what is first assumed.

That's so punny!
